

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A memory device including a circuit for actively driving a reference voltage in a memory device is disclosed. A circuit integrated in a memory device and coupled to an external voltage source substantially eliminates fluctuations in the reference voltage of the memory device caused by power supply changes and noise occurring in the memory device by generating a constant voltage and good current drive from the external voltage source.

N:\2269\4364.1\CONT.PAT.APP.DOC 07/22/03